BLOCKADE OF RUSSIA TO BE RE-ESTABLISHED Roosevelt Formally Notified Of Nomination; Joins Cox In Accepting G. O. P. League Challenge

NO ALLIED TROOPS TO BE USED TO ASSIST THE POLES

HYTHE, ENGLAND, August 9.—(By the Associated Press)—The allied conference here reached a complete agreement this afternoon on plans for dealing with the Russo-Polish crisis. They include the re-imposition of the blockade, but on the advice of the experts, no allied troops will be employed.

LONDON, August 9.—The Bolshevik military authorities have established Soviet in the parts of eastern Galicia under their occupation. It is stated in an authoritative dispatch received here.

PARIS, August 9.—The American note regarding the Russian situation is being delivered in the French foreign office today. It was learned in an authoritative quarter here.

LONDON, August 9.—The Polish government is leaving Warsaw. Its capital, it is asserted in a wireless dispatch from Moscow received here this afternoon.

(By The Associated Press) Matter's refusal to grant Premier Lloyd Russian Bolshevik attacks appear. George's request for a ten day truce only have broken the Polish lines with the Poles. Mr. Lloyd George con- sidered the east Prussian frontier, and feared with Premier Millerand of Soviet cavalry patrols have swept France and Hythe, England, yesterday forward in a great encircling move, and loads of the British army and navy were directed with Marshal Foch of the Polish front the Soviet armies of France at the same place until an also seem to have torn a great gap in the defense of Warsaw.

Przemysl, a city 41 miles north of Warsaw, has been occupied by the ad- vance guard of the Bolshevik forces, which has passed on and is reported to be approaching Mlava, in the west, and to be heading to the southwest. The loss of Przemysl is admitted in an official statement issued in Warsaw last night and it would seem that the Soviet offensive is advancing almost without serious opposition.

On Friday the Bolsheviks were reported taking the Poles near Mlyniec, near the East Prussian border. When they broke through is not known but it appears they have gained at least 100 miles in the last three days. Polish troops have been retreating their headquarters of Mlava which is situated in the railroad line running from Warsaw to Danzig. It is believed they will make a desperate effort to prevent capture of this city by Soviet forces.

Poles Pushed Back On South Coast along with the Bolshevik advance in the north, the Polish lines south of Ostrow to west of Poznan have been forced back. Soviet troops have forced their way into Sokolow and are reported to be heading for Silesia. The Bolsheviks are reported to have taken Poznan, west of the Polish line. In this region they are reported to have control of the road to the westward from Poznan.

While there has been serious fighting and important successes are reported by the Bolsheviks.

Misses Ready To Aid Naval military and economic plans for saving Poland have been drawn up by Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, chief of the British imperial staff.

While there has been no talk of officially declaring war on Russia, the allies have decided to give Poland all possible military, naval and economic assistance without delay. It was officially announced that Soviet Russia had refused to accept Premier Lloyd George's latest offer of ten day's truce in the Russo-Polish war.

The situation is most serious, declared Lloyd George, one of the leaders, when the conference dispersed. To Reimpose Blockade However, the allies have given Europe in their brief respite, Soviet Russia has 10 hours more in which to come to terms. At the expiration of that period if there is no acceptance word from Moscow, the blockade of Russia will be reimposed. Such a step it was announced last night.

Principals In Kidnapping Case

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., August 9.—Search for the kidnapped Blakely Coughlin continued today, while Augustus Pasquale, "The Crook," who, according to the authorities, has admitted receiving a part of the $12,000 ransom paid by the baby's father, but denies the actual abduction, was permitted to have a day of relief from the incessant questioning to which he has been subjected since he was arrested last Monday at Egg Harbor, N. J. The search today revealed nothing regarding the child's whereabouts.

Alfred I. Souder, captain of detectives, again called Pasquale from his cell in central police station and made another effort to obtain additional information from him. Some of the conflicting stories told by the prisoner have been confirmed by the police, who expressed the belief he has not told all he knows.

In his alleged confession given out by the police, Pasquale said the abductor is a Russian Pole, and that he was aided by a woman. This woman, he was reported to have said, knew long the child.

Mr. Burton has been practically unknown in Ohio politics since his retirement from the senate, six years ago, and his re-entrance has created considerable interest, especially among Republicans. Mr. Burton served in congress before his election as senator.

Of other contests, the one being watched with much interest is that for the Republican nomination for secretary of state. The candidates are Harvey C. Smith, the incumbent; Harry Clay Smith, a negro publisher of Cleveland, and former Secretary C. G. Hildebrand, of Wilmington.

PEACE MUST INCLUDE A LEAGUE, SAYS ROOSEVELT

HYDE PARK, August 9.—Franklin D. Roosevelt in a formal address accepting the Democratic vice presidential nomination at his home here today joined with his chief, James M. Cox, in accepting the challenge of the Republicans to make the League of Nations one of the principal issues of the campaign.

"The Democratic party," he said, "has offered to this nation a treaty of peace which to make it a real treaty for a real peace must include a League of Nations."

"Today," he continued, "we are offered a seat at the table of the family of nations to the end that the small peoples may be truly safe to work out their own destiny. We shall take that faith, I say so because I have faith that this nation has no selfish destiny, faith that our people are looking into the years beyond for better things and that they are not afraid to do their part."

"Even as this nation entered the war for an ideal, so it has emerged from the war with the determination that the ideal shall not die. It is to be a part of the war declaration of April 6, 1917, was a mere act of self defense or that the object of our participation was solely to defeat the military power of the central nations of Europe. CHICAGO, August 9.—Ultra conservatism will be the watchword in clothing styles for men this fall. Patch pockets and long-roll lapels will have to go, according to leading clothing manufacturers here, to be succeeded by plain pockets and straight lapels of medium length. Trousers will be along straight lines with cuffs attached.

ELABORATE CEREMONIES HELD AT HYDE PARK

HYDE PARK, N. Y., August 9.—Attended by distinguished Democratic party leaders and a large assemblage of Dutchess county neighbors among whom he has lived all his life, Franklin D. Roosevelt was today officially notified of his nomination as the Democratic nominee for the vice presidency.

Hyde Park, originally a sleepy, picturesque little Hudson valley village, today was the Democratic mecca of the east. The rank and file of the party began arriving at daybreak, by motor, train and Hudson river boats. As with all the other notification ceremonies, there was an "old home week" atmosphere about the day's festivities.

Mr. Roosevelt who arrived last evening from Dayton, where he attended the notification ceremonies of James M. Cox, last Saturday, arose early to assist his family in preparations, preparing to receive a crowd of 10,000 persons assembled at Springfield, the Roosevelt ancestral estate, where the ceremonies were held. They started at 3 o'clock this afternoon. There was no mistaking the fact that this was "Frank Roosevelt's Day." Pictures of the candidate and his chief were posted about the town, while flags and bunting gave a holiday atmosphere.

Former navy men flocked out in full force, as did the local lodges of Masons, Odd Fellows and the Grange, to which Mr. Roosevelt belongs. Weather conditions were ideal.

The Roosevelt home stands on a broad, fertile several hundred feet above the Hudson and is flanked on all sides by spacious lawns and beautiful trees. Mr. Roosevelt will speak from the front veranda.

The program was not expected to take more than an hour. It commenced with the singing of the National Anthem, followed by the invocation by the Rev. Edward P. Newton, pastor of St. James Episcopal Church, which the Roosevelt family attend.

Henry Morzenheim, Jr., chairman of the local committee on arrangements, introduced George White, Democratic national chairman, who in turn presented Homer Cummings, former chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Mr. Roosevelt then delivered his formal speech of acceptance.

Mr. Roosevelt leaves here Tuesday morning for Chicago, where he will open his campaign tour Wednesday evening. The tour, which will last three weeks, will take him to the Pacific coast and back with addresses in fifteen different states, in seventeen working days.

Cox's Secret Paragraph Withheld For Fear Of It Overshadowing Other Issues

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright by Times Publishing Co.)

DAYTON, O., Aug. 9.—Governor Cox in his speech accepting the Democratic nomination for the vice presidency took his grand opportunity to make the League of Nations, but he withheld further and interpreting that platform specified reservations which, if elected president, he would accept. He named first one that gave America an absolute, free hand and really notified the other nations that nothing in the treaty or League could interfere with the right of Congress to declare war with the consent of the people, he pointed out could not be contradicted by any treaty but was the supreme law of the land.

In his second reservation, the Ohio Governor would insist that American state at the outset that she was entering the League only with the understanding that it was to maintain peace and equity. This Mr. Cox believed, would enable America to remain aloof from any military alliance or other war making overtures.

His Republicans opposed to the speech to show that Senator Johnson and Senator Harding are in absolute accord in opposing the League of Nations and he takes the Republicans to task for abandoning the position they were in when they favored ratification of the peace treaty with reservations.

The difference between president Wilson and Governor Cox and there is a substantial difference lies in the willingness of the Democratic reservation that would reassure the American people concerning the fears of superciliousness and loss of sovereignty which Republican orators have successfully inspired in the last year of debate. Mr. Wilson had to lead those fears aside as a necessary and world wide necessity to accept an all embracing reservation that would reassure the American people concerning the fears of superciliousness and loss of sovereignty which Republican orators have successfully inspired in the last year of debate.

With regard to the League of Nations, Governor Cox seems to have been in the Wilson defense. He said that the League of Nations is a treaty and that it is to be maintained by the people of the United States.

AUTO WRECKED WHEN HIT BY N. & W. TRAIN; OCCUPANTS JUMP

A new Overland touring car owned by C. W. Rotroff, was badly wrecked Saturday night, when it was struck by an N. & W. passenger train at what is known as the Youngville Crossing, six miles east of Winchester, O. The car was carried 50 feet on the pilot of the engine before it became dislodged and was tossed to one side.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rotroff and son Virgil, and Mr. Rotroff's father, G. W. Rotroff, occupied the machine. When they saw the train approaching, they all jumped out of the car and escaped being injured. According to Mr. Rotroff, the accident occurred on a very bad curve and he says rain was coming down so hard that he did not see the train until it was almost right on his machine. Mr. Rotroff and family had been in this city and were on their way to their old home when the accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Pollock and two sons, Edward and Leroy, of 1913 Johnson avenue, were in a machine right behind the Rotroff family and they succeeded in stopping their car in time to prevent any damage to it.

C. W. Rotroff is working here and has been living next door to Mr. and Mrs. Pollock on Robinson avenue. He and his family continued their journey to Winchester in the Pollock machine. It was N. & W. passenger train No. 25 due here at 8:30 that hit the Rotroff car.

BRAKEMAN SAYS IT IS TIME FOR HIM TO TALK

Norfolk And Western Man Was Laid Off For Six Months Before Taking Tanlac—Now Back On Job Feeling Fine.

"When a man has had to live for months on nothing but eggs and milk on account of stomach trouble, and then finds a medicine that fixes him up in less than two months so that he can eat roast pork and cabbage and anything else he wants, I think it is time for him to talk for the benefit of others. Well, Tanlac has done all this and more for me, and I am now enjoying better health than I have in years," said J. D. Stamp, brakeman on the Norfolk and Western Railroad, living at 1015 Second Ave. North West, Roanoke, Va.

"I was in such bad shape when I started on Tanlac that I was laid off from work for six months. I suffered terribly from indigestion, and couldn't eat a thing without suffering great pain and distress afterwards. My kidneys also bothered me so much I couldn't get proper rest at night and always got up in the mornings feeling tired and worn out."

Your attention is being called to facts pertaining to the schools which is not a matter of chance for they are in the laws of the state, and all laws shall be enforced.

I believe that all the people of your district want good schools and will, therefore, do all they can to make such schools possible, and they will be impossible without the money. Would You Like To Be Public Health Nurse?

Stacy Johnson, a Red Cross public health nurse, demonstrated a perfect bath using three basins belonging to Star York barbers during a demonstration Saturday.

There is a great need in the United States today of several thousand public health nurses and one of the important phases of the health promotion program of the American Red Cross is to increase the interest of qualified women in taking the training necessary to fit them for this vital and absorbing calling.

Would you like to be a public health nurse? If so, call at the Red Cross headquarters, in the First National building for any information desired. The public health nurse is the guardian of the babies of a community. She takes at Mothers' Clubs, and other gatherings, giving occasional demonstrations in the preparation of milk, washing the bottles, and simple details of home nursing.

The Red Cross does not seek to supplant in any way other organizations already in the field, but rather to strengthen the activities of properly conducted state and local authorities by helping to awaken public interest, to secure public support, and to demonstrate the need for the work.

Number of families helped during the month, Service 55, Civilian 65.
Number of new families not previously helped, Service 24, Civilian 26.
Number of visits made at homes, Service 12, Civilian 24.
Number of visits made in behalf of them, Service 16, Civilian 20.

VOTE FOR BETTER SCHOOLS

That's What the 3 Mill Levy Means But,

While the primary object of schools is to educate children

A MOMENT'S THOUGHT will show you

1. That property values will be higher in a city that has good schools than in one that has not.

2. That a man who contemplates making his home in Portsmouth will investigate its schools before he decides, and if they are not up to standard he will not come—that is if he is the kind of citizen we want.

3. That many other cities are voting on the 3 Mill Levy at the August 10 Primary and that the relative educational standing of Portsmouth and these other cities is in the balance.

MISS DOLLY WISE

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—I have gone with her of course but have only been with one girl. I have heard things to tell her fellows about me and they are all true at all. The boys leave me in a state of this I think he likes me, but can I win his love?

EASY TO GET.
Last of all I would advise you to get your "Easy-To-Get" sign as soon as you can. When a young man makes statements about a girl which are unfavorable and untrue, he deserves to be dropped immediately. She should be a source of information through a reliable source. Unfortunately there are "cats" among boys and girls who enjoy breaking up friendships by telling such things. Great about love and be satisfied with friends if you think your friend is worthy of you and loyal to you.

Dear Dolly—Please tell me how to pronounce the name Yvonne. Also is it French or Italian?
WANT TO KNOW.
Yvonne is the correct pronunciation. It is a French name.

Dear Miss Wise—I have been keeping company with a girl friend for two weeks, but she does not seem to care much for me. She is 15 and her parents object to her being out late.

Please advise me what to do?

WALTER.
I should think her parents would object to her being out late with you. The parents of any nice girl would object, not because it is you, but because she is just a little girl who ought to be in bed early. She shouldn't try to vamp boys until she is past eighteen.

Dear Miss Wise—I had a lovely promenade and I just missed it the first time I washed it. Do you know what I can do with it now?

BUSINESS GIRL.
In what way did you ruin it? Never use hot water in washing gloves. Instead use a soda made from luke warm water in the wash board, but in the hands, as the board draws the threads. Rub in several waters of the soda preparation, hang out in the sun until it is dry, then iron. Do not sprinkle nor dampen it. Any moisture, even of a damp cloth, will spoil all the good results of the careful washing. If treated in this way it will look like new.

Dear Dolly—I have a steady fellow but we have been over for a week and I broke a date with him just to please a girl friend. She had two fellows on her hands one night and she asked me to tell my steady I had a headache and take this other fellow.

I did and came near getting by with it when we went down town and he saw us. He got peevish but I am sorry and want him back. I make dates with him but he never fills them.

BLUE EYES.
Where was your judgment when you ignored one date to go with another who meant nothing to you? You might have known at the time that you could not get by with anything like that in Portsmouth. Everyone seems to know what the other fellow does. After such treatment I do not blame him for getting peevish. Perhaps he is breaking engagements with you to give you a taste of your own medicine. There should be a limit to the punishment and if he forgets a date again, I would advise you to forget him.

ALLIES DRAW UP MILITARY AND NAVAL MEASURES TO AID POLES REDS REFUSE TO GRANT TRUCE

GAPS TORN IN POLES DEFENCE LINES

LONDON, August 9.—The Polish government is leaving Warsaw, its capital, it is asserted in a wireless dispatch from Moscow received here this afternoon.

(By The Associated Press) Russian Bolshevik attacks appear to have broken the Polish line near the eastern frontier, and Soviet cavalry patrols have swept forward in a great encircling movement north of Warsaw. In the center of the Polish front the Soviet armies also seem to have torn a great gap in the defense of Warsaw.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, LONDON, August 9.—When Premier Millerand of France and Lloyd George of Great Britain met again this morning in continuation of their conference here over the Russo-Polish situation, they had before them the detailed report of Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Wilson dealing with the extent of the military, naval and economic assistance with France and England can give immediately to Poland.

Having decided that actual war should not be waged on Russia, the premiers were confronted with a most difficult problem. It is known they are inclined to give Poland every aid within the limit of this decision. In both French and British circles here the word "defense" is emphasized in connection with all the proposed plans, and it is pointed out that France and Great Britain wish it distinctly understood that they are not contemplating offensive measures against Russia.

Great Britain and France are convinced that the Bolsheviks intend to capture Warsaw and set up a Soviet government in Poland.

Naval, military and economic plans for saving Poland have been drawn up by Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, chief of the British imperial staff.

There has been no talk of offensive action on the Russian front, the decision being to give Poland all the military, naval and economic assistance without delay.

It was officially announced that Lord Lloyd George's latest offer of the day's truce in the Russian-Polish war.

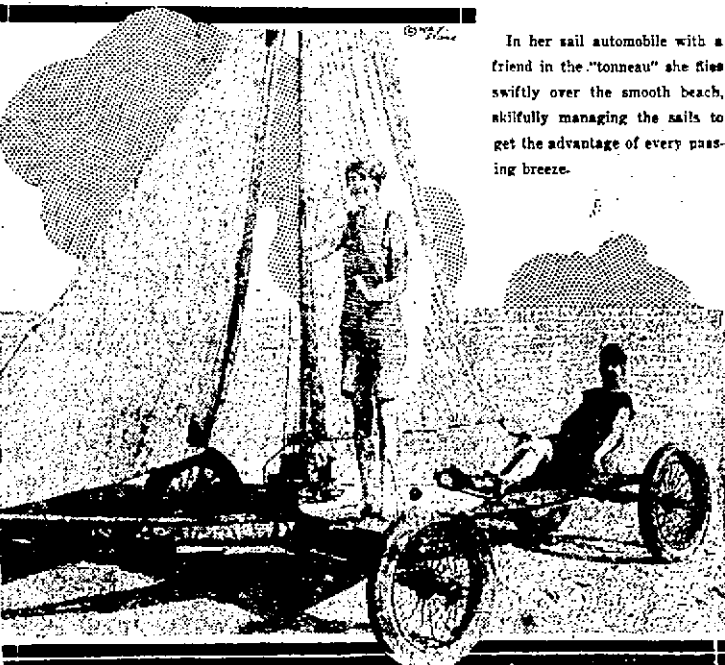

"The truce is most serious," the London dispatch says, "and the decision of the conference is expected."

To Premise Blockade. The allies have given Poland a brief respite. Soviet Russia is hours away in which to capture it. At the expiration of 24 hours there is no acceptable offer from Moscow. The blockade of the Baltic is being maintained.

Such a respite is necessary, it is said, to enable the allies to make a final decision at Whitehall and to give the Premier time to consider the situation and to make a final decision.

To Milder Home. Lord Lloyd George and his family have been the guests of their uncle, P. W. Sheridan and family, 1016 Grandview avenue, who will move to their home in Lancaster today.

COX SPEECH A CURIOUS MIXTURE OF ERRORS AND MISTATEMENTS, SAYS G. O. P.

MARION, O., Aug. 9.—According to Governor Cox's speech of acceptance for Governor Cox's speech of acceptance, a curious mixture of errors and misstatements. Some of the errors were pointed out by the Republican party.

The statement given out over the signature of "Senator Harding's Headquarters" was partly as follows: "Governor Cox's acceptance address will not fail to please his political opponents, Republicans and Democrats alike, who are convinced that the country's most immediate task is to get its business administration into the hands of people competent to take care of, and get its international relations into the control of men who are Americans first, rather than internationalists."

The statement also asserted that by suggesting repeal of consumption taxes and enactment of a blanket one and one-half percent levy on the total business of doing concerns, Governor Cox had shown that he has no intention of increasing the tax burden.

Thus on the subject of government expenses Governor Cox said: "Immediately following the armistice, measures to modify onerous and annoying taxation should have been taken and the Republican congress has not made a single effort or passed a single law to lift from the American people a load of war taxation that cannot be tolerated in time of peace. Federal taxation must be heavily reduced, and it will be done at once if a Democratic administration is chosen in November."

The Roosevelt home stands on a broad terrace several hundred feet above the Hudson and is flanked on all sides by spacious lawns and beautiful trees. Mr. Roosevelt will speak from the front veranda.

The program is not expected to take more than an hour. It will begin with the singing of the National Anthem, followed by the invocation by the Rev. Edward P. Newton, pastor of St. James Episcopal Church, which the Roosevelt family attends.

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., chairman of the local committee on arrangements, will then introduce George White, Democratic national chairman, who in turn will present Homer Cummings, former chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Mr. Roosevelt will then deliver his formal speech of acceptance. The exercises will close with benediction by the Rev. David P. Morley, pastor of the Regina Coeli Catholic church here, and the singing of "America."

Mr. Roosevelt leaves here Tuesday morning for Chicago, where he will begin his campaign tour Wednesday evening. The tour, which will last three weeks, will take him to the Pacific coast and back with addresses in five different states. In seven cities and towns he will be met by thousands of people.

Roosevelt To Be Notified Of His Nomination Today

HYDE PARK, N. Y., August 9.—Attended by distinguished Democratic party leaders and a large assemblage of Dutchess county neighbors among whom he has lived all his life, Franklin D. Roosevelt awaited today the ceremonies by which he is to be officially notified of his nomination as the Democratic nominee for the vice presidency.

Hyde Park, ordinarily a sleepy, picturesque little Hudson valley village, today was the Democratic mecca of the east. The rank and file of the party began arriving at daybreak, by motor, train and Hudson river boats. As with all the other notification ceremonies, there was an "old home week" atmosphere about the day's festivities.

Mr. Roosevelt who arrived last evening from Dayton, where he attended the notification ceremonies of James M. Cox, last Saturday, arose early to assist his family in preparations, preparing to receive a crowd of 10,000 persons expected at Springfield, the Roosevelt ancestral estate, where the ceremonies are to be held. They are not to start until three o'clock this afternoon. There was no mistaking the fact that this was "Frank Roosevelt's Day". Pictures of the candidate and his chief were posted about the town, while flags and bunting gave a holiday atmosphere.

Former navy men turned out in full force, as did the local lodges of Masons, Odd Fellows and the Grange, to which Mr. Roosevelt belongs. Weather conditions were ideal.

WATCH YOUR—TONGUE

SCHOOL boys and girls who struggle in their grammar lessons with such terrifying enemies as "attributive complement, predicate adjective, anticipatory verb," and other mystifying specimens of grammar terminology will be glad to learn that, according to a recent writer on the subject, "English grammar, as it is now taught, should be dropped entirely from our schools."

Against the formal teaching of grammar as a "thing of laws, rules, ordinances, by-laws and exceptions; an unscientific, logical, inflexible dictum, which forces children to decline nouns in cases which do not exist, to conjugate verbs in tenses, moods and voices which long since have ceased to be, and to make adjectives agree with nouns when agreement is neither necessary nor possible"—against all this emphasizing of the letter and killing of the spirit the writer makes a strong case.

Perhaps the discarding of mental gymnastics would come as a relief to the teacher no less than to the pupil. Almost every teacher who is at all familiar with the speech habits of school children outside of the class room has come to see the futility of the empty drilling and parrot-like reciting of the grammar hour. It is now admitted on all sides that we have in the past over-emphasized parsing and conjugating and that more recent device for the torture of the school child's mind, known as diagramming. This is evidenced by the fact that the teaching of grammar as it was practiced 25 or 30 years ago has been supplanted in a large measure by methods less irksome and more fruitful to both teacher and pupil.

We cannot afford to be less diligent in our efforts to correct slovenly speech habits and to preserve the purity and effectiveness of a language in which is written so much of the world's best literature, and which is the most widely used tongue in the world. If it is our intention to preserve the English language, and not merely to pad a school curriculum, it should be impressed upon the pupil that cultural and commercial opportunity depends in a great part on one's knowledge of his mother tongue and on a desire to use this knowledge to the best of his ability. Slovenly speech, the pupil should be made to understand, is as likely to bring the user of it into disrepute as is slovenly appearance in the matter of his clothes. To this end the home can greatly assist the school.

THE AGE OF NEW THINGS

THE mail is to be carried through the air by fast-going planes, and the news from home will come before the miteage is dry on the envelope. Right of way men are mapping out the routes, landing places are being selected, and the world will witness a revolution in quick transportation facilities. Trial trips of planes have frightened the farm animals, driven the barnyard fowls to their coops and brought forth protests from their owners.

Solomon was pretty well convinced that there could not be anything new under the sun. He assured his subjects that so far as he could see, by the aid of prophetic glasses, there was nothing new. The Indians of North America believed in a limited world. Chief Moses of the Northwest told his people that there was no country, or people, east of the Rocky Mountains.

Inventions are announced with rapidity that almost takes the breath away. Scientists are finding new sources of food; inventors are discovering new modes of travel and machines for saving labor. Necessity is finding new ways of doing almost everything. The man of yesterday is a stranger in the land of today. The man of tomorrow will look back on the men of yesterday and wonder how they lived.

DESTINY

IN a presidential year men are made, characters defined and destinies scanned by the people of the nation. It is a time for rejoicing because a favored son is honored, a good neighbor is exalted, or the child of the farm becomes the "man of the hour." In this campaign the successful contender for the office of chief executive will be a child of the farm, for the reason that all candidates were born on the farms.

It is certainly an inspiring thought to realize that in the United States there is no barrier to the attainment of the highest home in the gift of the people. How often the fond mother, sitting by the cradle rocking her infant son, looks upon his innocent face and predicts, in her own mind, that some day that little one—her boy—may become a great and honored man. With her own hands she opens the window to a world of wonderful opportunities.

Of all men who live upon the earth, he who is without hope is the most miserable. To him all days and nights are dark. But those visions do not come to the American. He lives in the hope of brighter days, happier hours and more peaceful and pleasant environment. To him and his family there comes the musical whispering voice of prophecy that tells the tale of destiny, inspiring an inspiring spirit of determination that spells success.

Again it is horse and horse. At the big notification ceremonies in Dayton Saturday, above the roar and shouting was heard some fellows, in fact a lot of fellows, yelling, "Hello, Jim!" "Howdy ye do, Jimmie," as they were heard at Marion calling "Hello, Warr!" "Howdy ye do, Warr!" Likely as not the possessors of the stentorian and familiar voices had never so much as seen either Jim or Warren before.

The Diary of an Engaged Girl

PERHAPS JIMMIE WILL MISS HER JACK, AFTER ALL.

Wednesday, Aug. 4.—I have just returned from a long evening spent with Jack and his mother. We had an awfully good time together. The rest of the family were out, and after dinner we sat and talked most amiably. Mother Jack seemed to take a new fancy to me, for some reason or other, maybe because she has found out just how happy I am with her new husband, and that after all it was not any thing but loyalty on my part that caused me to help them to elope.

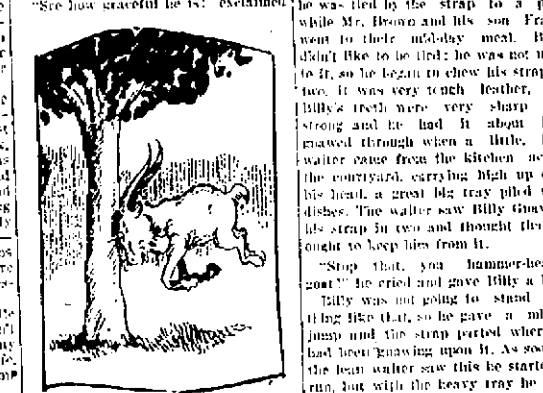

Laura was with her mother all afternoon and evidently changed her opinion at great length. That helps some, I think. So we talked about her and her cozy little studio apartment, and what the future held for her and Jack and myself. Mother Jack suddenly discovered that she had some pressing letters to write, and after a hearty kiss to me, wadded off to her room, leaving us alone.

The hours are so short now that we both were glad of the chance to be by ourselves for a few hours, and Jack was my lover more than he had ever been before. Made me promise to keep a diary all the time I am away, so that he will be able to read it when I get back, and not feel that he has missed two months out of my life and experiences, and all that. Also made me promise to write by every boat, come what may. I did, of course, for after all he is the man of my choice and loves me dearly, very dearly.

Jack says that every dollar he makes

BILLY WHISKER

When the boy saw Billy, he said: "Oh, papa, there is that beautiful goat again. How I do wish I could have him! Of course you can buy me one in America, as you have promised to do, but they say that there are no goats in the world so fine as the Swiss goats, and I am sure that I never saw any so pretty as this one."

"How I shall ever be willing to settle down after such wilderness! I don't know—but believe me I shall do my best to settle, and be a good little wife after all this Jack is planning for me and my happiness. Yes, indeed."

After the first hour of heavy planning and talking about our future Jack suddenly became very silent, and something told me it was because he was blue about our coming separation. So I put my arms around him and told him the many things that he so loved to hear, and I felt every one of them too, for he has been very sweet, has my boy.

"Don't be surprised, darling girl, if I should suddenly show up in Paris one day—towards the end of my trip," said he, all of a sudden. "Something tells me that it is quite on the cards." Can you imagine how happy I felt at his words? What woman wouldn't? Doesn't it please any woman to feel that she is so loved and missed by her man that he is willing to travel hundreds of miles for a glimpse of her fair face, or words to that effect?

So I am now wearing his silver ring, as an amulet. The dear boy suddenly decided that it might keep me more like than anything else, and it would surely remind me of him every time I looked at it. But then I don't really need anything to help me do this.

THE KING GOT HIS

Solomon, a London musician, had as pupil King George H. One day, when the king had not distinguished himself by great practice or skill in playing, the teacher gave him the following classification of fiddlers. "Fiddlers, your majesty, may be divided into three classes: To the first belong those who cannot play at all; to the second those who play badly; and to the third those who play well. Your sire, have already reached the second class."

Nothing that Uncle Mose never mentioned his approaching marriage, the planter said: "Mose, you know I am going to marry Miss Currier?"

"Yessuh, I knows her..." "I haven't heard you say anything about it," persisted the planter. "No, mule," said Mose. "Tain't for me to say nothin' 'bout it. It's got to be a mule's business."

SHOW TRAIN IN WRECK: 2 KILLED; 8 INJURED

Accident Occurred On C. & O. Near Ashland; Four Missing

Two men are dead, four are missing and eight are in the King's Daughters Hospital at Ashland, Ky., as the result of the derailment of a special show train at Ashland, Ky., 11 miles west of Ashland. The train carried twenty cars, most of which contained men and property of the McDonald Carnival Company, which was to have opened its show in Ashland Tuesday.

The dead: R. H. Abrams, of Lexington, Ky.; William Mann, of Danville, Ky. Both joined the carnival troupe Saturday at Lexington. All others injured are employees of the carnival.

The injured, none of whom is likely to die, are as follows: James Shaw, Riley Thomas, J. M. Nathan, Jack Barnes, John Wilson, Cleland Hinkle, Herbert Payne and Nick Sangl.

The home addresses of the injured are not known, all of them having been listed as employees of the McDonald company.

A special train made up of the crew of No. 23, Lexington division, left Ashland yesterday afternoon as soon as news of the accident reached the dispatcher. The dead and injured were brought to Ashland about five o'clock, but trainmen are still searching for four men who were reported missing after a roll call of the carnival company.

Special Train Cause of Accident

According to an Ashland report of the derailment, extra train 417, Lexington division, running from Olive Hill to Ashland, derailed at a point one-half mile from Coalton at 2:25. The cause was given as a "spread" rail, which precipitated the first car from the engine over the rail. The second and third also left the track, piling up five cars in the rear.

Armor for the Gaffer.

"Gaffers who fear snakes," says a traveler, brought try the "tin armor" which is worn by wanderers in the tropical zone lands. It is the custom of some explorers to fasten a bright tin disk over their ankles. This gleaming spot attracts the reptiles, which hesitatingly strike at it and nowhere else. The snake is thus rendered harmless and leaves the gaffer in a position to receive a knockout blow at the intended victim's discretion.—London Chronicle.

Dentist's Memorial.

It is a far cry from the powdered wig, the gold chain and the teeth of the forgotten past to the work of a modern dental surgeon, but like his predecessors in the profession, the modern operator leaves behind him his monument. It may be a cross of gold which he erects to his memory as a product of his mechanical skill, or maybe he has taught the children of the world the secrets of health or the aesthetic value of a pleasing smile.—Exchange.

String Holder.

A convenient string holder may be made of a small funnel hung in a corner of a kitchen. A ball of string should be put in the funnel, the loose end extending down through the stem.

G. O. P. Flays Cox Speech

Illustration (repeated) should be appreciated.

The Democratic sixty-fifth congress died March 4, 1919. It had failed to pass many of the appropriation bills. Its last was turned over to the incoming Republican congress, who proceeded immediately to pass the estimates that had been embodied in the appropriation bills prepared by its Democratic predecessor.

Feeling Troubles

"This pending process resulted in a saving of $30,000,000. That is, if the Democratic congress had succeeded in passing, before its demise, the bills that it had framed it would have appropriated nearly a billion dollars more than the Republican congress, immediately following, appropriated for the same purpose. Following this came the reorganization of the Republican eighty-sixth congress, from which the Democratic administration demanded appropriations aggregating $6,000,000,000. Instead of granting this amount, which was insisted upon with all vehemence by the various Democratic departments, this session of a Republican congress cut the estimated appropriation $3,431,122,072.16. So, from March 4, 1919, to early June, 1920, the aggregate saving effected by the substitution of a Republican for a Democratic congress was $2,411,355,141.13.

Democratic Estimates

"It is worth while to pursue this examination a step further. If the estimates submitted by the Democratic administration had been granted, appropriations for the period under examination would have exceeded the revenues of $1,000,000,000.

"The Democratic number's address is about equally sound and reliable. Among consumption taxes," he says, "anyone willingly borne, now unjustly fled, should be repealed." And in the very next paragraph:

"I suggest a small tax, probably not and certainly present on the total business of every living concern.

"Thus the governor is found in the paragraph to oppose consumption taxes and in the next to favor their adoption on a universal scale.

"In his discussion of international affairs, Governor Cox is particularly bitter against the senate majority that insisted on Americanization of the President's covenant for a League of Nations.

Courage and Cowardice.

The thin line between courage and cowardice is none too distinctly drawn. For it rides astride fear. And it must seem idle to hold how one can be either a coward or a courageous man, depending altogether upon which side of the line one takes the first step, but the formula has held fast in actual practice in one very best way.

Free Distribution Of Anti Toxin

The local board of health was notified today of an epidemic of diphtheria following ten years only, one the record price to the effect that county commissioners can no longer supply free diphtheria anti-toxin, and that to tribulation in all cases.

As Portsmouth in the past has law local boards of health must make provision for their budgets for anti-toxin distribution.

This means that instead of anti-toxin being supplied to indigent cases only, provision must be made whereby anti-toxin will be supplied free to all cases. About five hundred dollars annually is spent in Portsmouth for anti-toxin.

Recent reports from New York and Philadelphia, where free distribution of anti-toxin has been tried, the statistics show that diphtheria almost never occurs when anti-toxin is administered on the first day of the disease, and that the percentage of deaths rises rapidly with longer delays in the use of anti-toxin.

The value of anti-toxin as a life-saving agency is also illustrated by experience at Salem, Ohio, where in the ten years preceding 1919 there were 18 diphtheria deaths, and the record price to the effect that county commissioners can no longer supply free diphtheria anti-toxin, and that to tribulation in all cases.

Cables Improve With Age.

It is found that the insulation resistance of telephone cables increases with the age of the cable, when it lies in the ground, because the moisture it possesses appears to be dried out.

Mend the Leaky Pen.

If one is troubled with a leaky fountain pen, the application of a little soap to the threads of the screw will make it tight. If the pen is supplied with an eraser, clean it, and it will be tight. I am sure there will be no more trouble until the pen needs refilling.
